The Ohio Election.

At the election in Ohio Tuesday, the Republicans elected their entire state ticket by about 15,000 majority.

West Plains is reveling in a home-talent Cantata this week.

Bollinger county hogs are dying in great numbers from measles.

The Bismarck Telegram claims there are only a few gossipers in that town, but some of them are very able-bodied Ananases.

Lewis George, of West Fork, Reynolds county, treats cancers "on the insurance plan." That is to say, "no cure, no payee."

The real estate office of Jno. C. Brown, at Van Buren, was burned to the ground, on the 3d inst. The hotel adjoining was also destroyed.

Work on the foundation of the new courthouse—we beg pardon; the ground-work of the "repairs," we mean—at Farmington, began last week.

We wish Bro. Stokes' Enterprise-Messenger success; but we would feel more like commending the editor and publisher if he were to quit cutting rates on "legal ads." The price set by law is low enough.

The Perryville Chronicle materialized last week, and No. 1, Vol. 1, now is before us. The mechanical work on the paper is good, and its columns have the vim peculiar to the freshness and vivacity of youth. If its vigor spring perennial, it will be a good paper.

Sam Martin, late one of Ironton's distinguished colored citizens, but later of Poplar Bluff, is now languishing in jail at the latter place. He and another "coon" tried to clean out a drunken white man, and were caught in the act. Enterprise is not always successful.

The Charleston Courier last week entered its thirty-fifth year. For twenty-six of those years we have read it with pleasure and profit. From the time that the late Mr. Whitcomb presided over its columns up to the present, it has always been bright and new. Hail to the Courier!

We had all along firmly resolved to attend the meeting of the Southeast editors at Cape Girardeau this week. But at this writing it seems impossible for us to "git thar." We promise those who do go, however, to stand to and abide by the laws they may enact. The meeting ought to be one of business strictly, and rates for "foreign" advertising the first thing considered. We are very sorry that circumstances prevent our being there and meeting "the boys" in council.

The Lutesville Vidette is full of conundrums this week. Hearken: "There must be about twenty aspirants for this postoffice, and while they all say there is no money in it, it is no bonanza, and other kindred remarks, why, is it, then, so many will hanker after it? The question is, is it glory they seek, or the munificent salary which a fourth-class postmaster receives with the perquisite thrown in, or does the suffix lend dignity to one's name? Will some friend, explain?"

"He that lives by the sword shall perish thereby." Never was the truth of this text better exemplified than in the violent death of Wm. McCown at Piedmont last week. The taking of human life, except under extraordinary circumstances, curses the slayer, and, to all intents and purposes, he too would be better under the sod. We doubt if McCown ever saw a happy moment after he killed Foster in Johnson county in 1861. His most vindictive enemy may now charitably pray that he rest in peace.

Bismarck Telegram: "The burning of the Bellevue Baptist church has at last been investigated (?) by a detective, and Wm. Russell, a young man above suspicion, was arrested at the investigation of the said detective, who claimed that Russell had made a full confession to him. The case was investigated at Ironton last Monday and was deferred till the action of the grand jury. This is but another case of a black-mailing detective working for a fee. The citizens of Bellevue should have promptly given the scoundrel a new suit of tar and feathers."

Marble Hill Press: "J. Logan Nations, at one time a whilom resident of Marble Hill, was last week arrested and tried in Ripley county, on a charge of burglary and larceny, but was acquitted. He was endeavoring to elope with a young lady. She had handed him out such apparel as she would take with her and this constituted the larceny. Logan had gone in the house in the absence of the irate father and taken the locks off the old double barrel and hidden them and this is the burglary part. The elopement was suspended but Nations expects to get her yet."

Frank Boggy, a rich but penurious farmer living near Lebanon, Ill., went to town a few days ago, and, being thirsty, threw high dice with the bar-keeper for the drinks. Losing sixty cents' worth of "wet goods" Mr. Boggy went off vowing vengeance. He presented himself before the grand jury, then in session, and made the charge of gambling against the saloon-keeper. But when that body proceeded to formulate two indictments—one for the saloon-keeper, and the other for Mr. Boggy—the thirsty, stung hog saw his mistake and begged that the whole matter be dropped. He was let off with a lecture, to the disappointment and regret of all who have heard of the affair.

Judge Foster, the tall sycamore of Cape Girardeau Circuit, can't abide the carrying of concealed weapons, and has made more than one offender pay dearly for crowding his hip-pocket with a "gun." The latest report is from the Charleston Courier: "A young man from Illinois came to this city last Monday to visit his cousin, Bob Grimes, who is in jail under an indictment of murder. He was taken to the jail to see Grimes, but when he entered he found the Jailor searching a negro, and he asked Deputy Sheriff Walters if the Jailor would search him. The deputy said no, and the stranger drew forth his pistol and asked the deputy to take care of it for him. Walters accommodated him, and took the pistol and man too. He was taken before Judge Foster and fined fifty dollars. The fine was partly remitted and he was sent to jail for five days."

S. J. Harkey, of Dunklin county, well-known to many of the citizens of this community, and highly esteemed by them, is at present "under a cloud," but we hope there is some mistake. He is charged before the court with incest. The Malden Clipper, however, is of the opinion that the charge is but too true. The preliminary examination was set for last Monday week, and the Clipper of the 9th says: "S. J. Harkey, who is charged with incest, did not appear on the day for trial, and there is considerable talk among his neighbors about the matter. If we have learned the facts, Harkey has committed a heinous crime, and deserves no sympathy from even his nearest friends. A man who would take the advantage of his niece, a young, weak-minded girl, debauch and ruin her, has no respect for himself nor his family. Harkey was once highly respected, has a noble wife, promising children, and brothers high in moral standing, and to bring such a disgrace upon himself and family, shows plainly the metal that is in him. The girl is now held for the same offense, and just what will next develop, we can not say. Whatever occurs the public shall have the facts."

FROM THE PRESIDENT

OF BAYLOR UNIVERSITY.
"Independence, Texas, Sept. 25, 1882.
Gentlemen:

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Has been used in my household for three seasons:—

- 1st. To prevent falling out of the hair.
- 2d. To prevent too rapid change of color.
- 3d. As a dressing.

It has given entire satisfaction in every instance. Yours respectfully,
WM. CAREY CRANE."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is entirely free from uncleanly, dangerous, or injurious substances. It prevents the hair from turning gray, restores gray hair to its original color, prevents baldness, preserves the hair and promotes its growth, cures dandruff and all diseases of the hair and scalp, and is, at the same time, a very superior and desirable dressing.
